Colorado River

"SGE is a great example of "you get what you pay for"; yes, they are a little pricier than some others, but their trips are well planned, their staff is professional and helpful, the experience can't be truly described. You will not be disappointed."
— Charles, Southlake, TX, Cataract Canyon

Exhilarating Rapids, Outstanding Scenery

The Colorado River is one of the most famous, exciting and beautiful rivers in the world. This magnificent river runs through six national parks and recreation areas.

Vacations on this prized river offer a combination of outstanding scenery, majestic wildlife, exhilarating rapids and a chance to truly escape.

Sheri Griffith Expeditions hosts trips in two scenic canyons of the Colorado River: Cataract Canyon, in Canyonlands National Park, and Westwater Canyon, a proposed Wild and Scenic River.

CATARACT CANYON

The Colorado River divides Canyonlands National Park in half. This is a spectacular, remote wilderness with 2000 foot red rock cliffs, 28+ fun and exciting rapids and national park quality hikes.

by Oar Boat

The oarboat is the traditional raft on the Colorado River and is "up close and personal" with the river and its natural power.

by Motorized J-Rig

This larger more stable raft, maneuvered by a quiet outboard motor, allows you to experience Cataract Canyon on a shorter timeframe.

WILD WESTWATER CANYON

by Paddleboat

This stretch of the river offers an ideal balance of mellow bird watching, exhilarating whitewater rafting and perfect camping. Otters, deer and eagles are not rare in this desert oasis.

The Sights of Cataract Canyon by Oarboat

The Sights of Cataract Canyon trip through Canyonlands National Park is our premier trip that offers great whitewater, spectacular hikes and beauty found only on the Colorado River. See red rock spires that tower 2000 ft. above the river. Explore 1000-year-old Native American petroglyphs and granaries found around every bend in the river.

The whitewater in May and June is a thrill-seeker's dream. The waves are large and the ride is very exciting. In the later season, the whitewater is still fun but not as big.

The oarboat is the traditional raft on the Colorado River. This type of craft places you "up close and personal" with the river and its natural awesome power. It's a pure wilderness river trip combining all the comforts needed to enjoy the outdoors. Carrying four to five people, the small rafts put you right in the heart of the action. Only the quiet dipping of the oars in the water breaks the impressive natural quiet of the smooth water sections.

Explore some of the lost canyons of Cataract Canyon as we motor off Lake Powell. The trip concludes with a flight back over Canyonlands National Park.

The Highlights of Cataract Canyon by Motorized J-Rig

If you are intrigued by the beauties of Cataract Canyon and Canyonlands National Park, yet not an adrenaline junkie, our Highlights of Cataract Canyon by Motorized J-Rig is for you! This trip allows those that don't want too much whitewater to ride on a motorized pontoon "J-rig," which is larger and more stable than oarboats.

The first few days we hike to ancient Native American ruins and petroglyphs and marvel at the red rock vistas of Canyonlands National Park. We have time for swimming and relaxing in the afternoon and evening.

After the Confluence of the Green and Colorado Rivers, we meet the beginning of the whitewater. For the next 20 miles, we navigate through rapids with names like North Seas, Mile Long, and the Big Drops. During the spring runoff, these rapids can be some of the largest and most powerful on the Colorado River. In late summer and fall, the river drops and the rapids are more moderate yet still exciting.

On the last day, we view 2000-foot cliffs and explore some of the canyons of Lake Powell. The trip wraps up with a scenic flight back to Moab over the canyon you have come to love.

Westwater Canyon, one of the last canyons of the Colorado Plateau to be explored, contains many wonders, from river otter and eagles that make the canyon their home to the miner's cabin and the Western Rio Grand railroad. The canyon walls are spectacular with 1.7 billion-year-old black rock rising out of the river and stand 1200 feet above the water by burning red sandstone cliffs. Westwater's history is filled with tales of those who passed this way, proven by Native American writings hidden on canyon walls and abandoned Miner's cabins and outlaw caves.

The Wild Westwater Canyon adventure places you in the midst of dramatic desert landscapes. There are two sections to Westwater Canyon with great contrast between the serene solitude of the upper canyon's sandstone walls and the surreal black granite and impressive rapids of the lower canyon.

This stretch of the Colorado River is free flowing, resulting in a variety of water levels throughout the rafting season. The narrow gorge of Westwater Canyon offers wonderful rapids during the entire rafting season. Run rapids with names like Sock-It-To-Me, Skull and Last Chance as you traverse this wild and scenic canyon.

The rarely run Yampa River through the Dinosaur National Monument is a guide and guest favorite. This is the only free-flowing river in the Colorado River drainage, and runs in May and June. The Rocky Mountain spring run-off creates fun rapids for inflatable kayaks and paddleboats.

Raft alongside 2000-foot-high white canyon walls with black tiger-stripes; hike side canyons to prehistoric rock art and abandoned caves. The Yampa joins the Green River at Echo Park for a 180-degree swing around beautiful Steamboat Rock and then continues through the canyons and Split Mountain Gorge.

The whitewater is exciting and entertaining while the slower river sections offer spectacular scenery to quiet the soul. Ancient American history and geological features fascinate your thirsty mind; star-studded nights evoke thought and appreciation for our place on Earth.

Because there is limited access to the Yampa River, few people have the opportunity to explore this area. This trip books quickly.

Green River

"We have an unknown distance yet to run, an unknown river to explore. What falls there are, we know not; what rocks beset the channel, we know not; what walls ride over the river, we know not.."
— John Wesley Powell

Classic Whitewater, Colorful History

The Green River offers a variety of trips along its 730 mile journey from the Wind River Mountains in Wyoming to the confluence of the Colorado River in Canyonlands National Park. This historic river has all the elements of a classic whitewater river trip: colorful cowboy, outlaw and Native American history, beautiful beaches and canyons and fun whitewater. We run three great stretches of the Green River.

4-DAY GATES OF LODORE

This is one of the most popular trips Sheri Griffith Expeditions runs. This is a journey into the spectacular wilderness of Dinosaur National Monument. This trip offers lots of activities and action. You can choose between paddling with friends in a paddleboat, taking on the rapids in one of our inflatable kayaks or relaxing in one of the oarboats.

5-DAY FAMILY VACATIONS ON THE GREEN RIVER

This trip offers a chance for the whole family to escape with exceptional bonding opportunities, fun whitewater, charming camp sites on sandy beaches, stunning geological features, and ancient and recent western history. River rafting offers quality time and experiences for strengthening family relationships. There is adventure time, quiet time, interaction and reflection time and lots of play time.

SEA KAYAKING CANYON COUNTRY

This trip is a graceful float through a bounty of southwestern vistas and cliffs of red rock sandstone. Spectacular buttes and mesas rise over 1,500 feet above the river floor. This trip is perfect for paddling. We explore on foot some of the secret side canyons, looking for Indian ruins and traces of lost civilizations.

Family River Trips on the Green River

The Green River is the perfect family river trip with warm water for swimming, big sandy beaches for playing and easy to moderate whitewater for excitement.

This trip is planned entirely for families. We travel at a family's pace, hand pick family-friendly guides and offer family-friendly meals. We take along sand toys for amusement. This hidden jewel of the American West has outlaw hideouts, homesteads, Indian Ruins, and sandy beaches shaded by ancient cottonwood trees. There are over 50 exciting rapids with big rolling waves that get bigger each day.

This stretch of the Green River has been our premier family trip for 25 years. It offers multi-generational families an opportunity to bond in the great outdoors.

The Perfect Family Vacation!

Playful rapids, lots of water fun, sandy beaches for sandcastles, nature hikes for learning, and marshmallows for roasting are just a few of the activities lined up for your family vacation. Camp on beautiful beaches shaded by cottonwood trees, hike to old outlaw hideouts and glimpse shy wildlife. Our "Kid Guide" offers games, fun-to-learn outdoor skills, and nature walks. Parents can join in or grab a little private time for themselves.

The Gates of Lodore

The Gates of Lodore is an absolute paradise with few people, 1000-foot cliffs and wildlife around every bend. The entrance to this Green River adventure truly looks like you're entering a giant red rock fortress as the canyon walls shoot hundreds of feet up from the valley floor. The trip has much more to offer than just gorgeous scenery; the canyon is filled with fun rapids every day, waterfall hikes and a native herd of big horn sheep that can be seen on most trips.

The Gates of Lodore Canyon contains the first major set of rapids encountered by John Wesley Powell and his men on their 1869 expedition. The river is narrow and fast paced. We run the rapids in paddleboats, inflatable kayaks and oarboats. The scenery is an amazing combination of Rocky Mountain forest tapering into the rugged beauty of the desert. Abundant wildlife including deer, bighorn sheep, eagles, trout and hawks can be seen around every bend.

We purposely travel slowly, about 10-15 miles per day, so we have ample time to explore the canyons and take in the surrounding nature and its wildlife. The camps are well-maintained, which makes for easy and relaxing camping.

Different types of rafts offer different experiences

Depending on water levels, you choose whether you want 1) Total involvement (paddleboats and inflatable kayaks), 2) Close and personal with the rapids (oarboats) or, 3) High and a little dryer (J-rigs). We offer the most choices with the experience to back them up. Raft types are listed under each trip.

OARBOATS

Inflatable rafts (approx. 16–18 feet in length) with guides that maneuver them with a set of oars secured to a frame in the middle of the raft. This is considered to be a more stable craft than a paddleboat.

J-RIG RAFTS

These 23-ft. rafts are motorized and move faster down river. They are much larger than other rafts and are considered to be the most stable. (only used on our Cataract Canyon 3 and 4 day trips.)

PADDLEBOATS

These are inflatable rafts (approx. 16 ft. in length) manned by guests and their paddles. A guide gives instruction and navigates from the back of each boat. Everyone must participate to maneuver the raft.

INFLATABLE KAYAKS

Small inflatable rafts, manned by 1 or 2 people with their double-bladed paddles. There are no guides in these crafts, kayakers follow instructions from guides in nearby kayaks or rafts.

NON-PERFORMANCE

We make every effort to follow through on our plans. However, we reserve the right to make changes in the itinerary or possibly cancel a trip if necessary for reasons including but not limited to weather conditions, water fluctuations, insufficient reservations, changes in international relations, or other factors beyond our control.

Health Issues

If you are of an adventurous spirit and in reasonably good health, you should have no problem enjoying any of our trips. If you take medication, you should bring a good supply and inform your guide of all medication that you are taking.

Moab Packaged Tours

Moab Package Tours' itineraries are considered final 45 days prior to the start of the expedition. Any changes to the itinerary after 45 days will incur a processing fee of $20 per change.
